THE REGISTER.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

ALLISON & PERKINS, PUBLISHI

IOLA, ALLEN COUNTY, KANSAS

TERMS-TWO DOLLARS PER YEAR

OFFICIAL PAPER OF COUNTY

Business Directorn.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

CITY OFFICERS

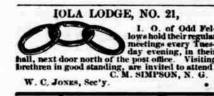

CHURCHES. METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

PRESBYTERIAN. Madison avenue and Western street. 10% a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School at S. G. CLARE, Pastor.

Bycamore street. Services every Sabbath at .m. and 7 p. m. Prayer meeting on Thursevening. Church meeting at 2 p. m. on day before the first Sabbath in each month. th School at 9% o'clock a. m. C. T. FLOYD, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

IOLA LODGE, NO. 38, A. F. & A. Masons meets on the first and third Saturdays in every month. Brethren in good standing are invited to attend. H. W. TALGOTT, W. M. J. N. WHITE, Sec'y.

Hotels.

LELAND HOUSE.

D. ALLEN, Proprietor. 10LA, KANSAS. This house has been thoroughly remired

CITY HOTEL, RICHARD PROCTOR, Proprietor. Iola, Kansas. Single meals 25 cents. Day board-ers one dollar per day.

Attornens.

NELSON F. ACERS. TTORNEY AT LAW, lola, Allen county, Kansas. Has the only full and complete se-bstracts of Allen county.

MURRAY & RICHARDS,

TTORNEYS AND COUNSELORS AT LAW.

Money in sums from $500 00 to $5,000 00 to d on long time upon Improved Farms in an Anderson, Woodson, and Neesho coun-

Miscellaneous.

L. L. LOW. GENERAL AUCTIONEER. Iola, Kansas Cries sales in Allen and adjoining counties

MRS. JULIA A. B. WHITNEY. TEACHER OF MUSIC; Also, agent for Piaz and Organs. Terms reasonable and satisf tion guaranteed. Patronage respectfully solicit

M. DEMOSS, M. D., OFFICE over Jno. Francis & Co.'s Drug Stor Residence on Washington avenue, 2nd doc south Neosho street.

H. A. NEEDHAM. OUNTY CLERK. Conveyancia

J. N. WHITE UNDERTAKER, Madison aven lears. Wood coffins constant: licarse always in readiness. Mets surnished on short notice.

J. E. THORP.

H. REIMERT,

TAILOB, Iola, Kansas. Scott Brother's old atand. Clothing made to order in the latest and best Styles. Satisfaction guaranteed. Clean-ing and repairing done on sport notice.

D. F. GIVENS. WATCHMAKER, JEWELER, AND CLOCK Repairer, at the postoffice, Iola, Kanasa. Clocks, Watches and Jewelry, promptly and neatly repaired and warramped. A fine assortment of Clocks, Jewelry, 6pid pens and other fancy articles, which will be sold cheap.

New Meat Market.

Having just opened a MEAT MARKET

Madison Av. Arst door west Scott Bro's old stand ALL KINDS OF MEAT And Soll as Low as the Lawest Give me a call when you want anythin line and I will guarantee satisfaction.

LF COAL Furnished on order.

RICHARD PROCTOR.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all persons whom it may concern that the undersigned, administrator of the estate of Albert Keeler, late of Alben county, Kansas, deceased, has filed his petition in the Probate Court of Alben county, Kansas, asking that an order issue from said Court, authorizing said empowering the undersigned to sail the real property of the said decedent for the purpose of paying the debts of the said decedent, which real estate is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at the north-east corner of section 17. paying the debts of the said decedent, which real estate is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at the north-east corner of section 17, township 24, south of range 18 east, and running thence south 70 chains, thence west 5 chains, thence north 10 chains, thence west 15.60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence east 21.60 chains to place of beginning, constaining in the aggregate 134.60 acres. Said petition will be heard on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1875, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day.

FRANK W. BARTLETT, Iols, Kansas, June 7, 1875.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT. dy, 1875, 1 was asiness of said estate with the siness of said estate with the said estate with

HE IOLA REGISTER.

VOLUME IX.

IOLA, ALLEN COUNTY, KANSAS, JUNE 19, 1875.

NO. 25.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

"You speak French passably well for ed arms, glaring at him the while. The shoulder. The seconds interfered, and

SERVED OUT.

In the year 183- there lived at Bordeaux the last, or one of the last, of a long line of scoundrels who had made that part of France infamous (to our ideas) by a succession of cold-blooded murders, committed under the sanction of what people were pleased to term "the code of honor." This was a certain Counte de V-, a man of great physical strength, imperturable acaqfroid and eigner, I should be spared the pain of in England, at one of her famous public relentless cruelty. Not a bad sort of a seeing a compatriot behave himself very schools. Had I been sent to one of our companion, as some said, when the fit- rudely." the dueling fit-was not on him; but this came on once in every six months, and then he must have blood, it matter ed little whose. He had killed and maimed boys of sixteen, fathers of families, military officers, journa ists, advocates, peaceful country gentlemen. The cause of a quarrel was of no importance; if one did not present itself readily, he made one; always contriving that, according to the code aforesaid, he should be the insulted party, thus having the choice of weapons; and he was deadly the strawberry-eater looked up and tend with him, is a coward and a knave. with the small sword. It is difficult for the easy, good natured face was gone. Do you follow me now Monsieur le go at large; but we know it to be true set itself very firmly. that such creatures were endured in France, just as we are assured that at in a low voice. ne time there were wolves in Yorkshire -only the less noisome vermin had a harder time of it as civilization progress-

V-, previous to the story I am about to relate, was to goad a poor student insented to him that the boy had never held a sword in his life, so that it would be fairer to use pistols, he replied that Monsieur le Comte," replied the straw- in the same calm tone he had used pistols," and the next morning ran him two. through the lungs. The evil fit was on him for another half year, and rather more, for public opinion was unfavora-ble, and the air of Bordeaux became too warm for him.

ed than was dealt out to the human

The scandal blew over after a time, and he came back to his old haunts, one of which was a cafe by the river side. where many used to spend their Sunday. Into the little garden of this establishment our wolf swaggered one fine summer afternoon, with the heavy dark look and nervous twitching of the hands which those who were acquainted with him well knew meant mischief. The evil fit was on him; consequently he con!" The poor trembling creature J. H. RICHARDS, County Attorney. displease him. He liked to be feared. stood quaking some ten yards off. he chose, so he looked around for a victim. At a table almost in the middle of the garden sat a man of about thirty years of age, of middle height and an expression of countenance which at first struck one as mild and good humored. He was engaged in reading a journal which seemed to interest him, and eating strawberries, an occupation which does not call forth any latent strength of character. Above all, he was profoundly un- Go, if you please," (this to the waiter conscious of the presence of M. le Comte de V- and continued eating his

As the Count approached this table it and the circle narrowed again to see the he would have to seek elsewhere what he play. It is not bad sport, with some of wanted. us, to see a fellow creature baited-especially when we are out of danger of the bully.

wolves. The strawberry-eater's costume was not such as was ordinarily worn in men of honor-" France at that time, and he had a curioughat, which—the weather being warm he had placed on the table by his side. "He is a foreigner," whispered some one in the dress circle. "Perhaps he does not know Monsieur le Comte." Monsieur le Comte seated himself at the table opposite the unconscious stranger, and called loudly, "Garcon."

"Garcon," he said, when that func tionary appeared, "take away that nasty thing!" pointing to the hat aforesaid. Now the stranger's elbow, as he read his journal, was on the brim of the will satisfy him." "nasty thing," which was a very good hat but of British form and make. The his chair; "I am with you. I waive the and that, and that!" garcon was embarrassed.

"Do you hear me?" thundered Count. "Take that thing away! No you-" one has a right to place his hat on the

"I beg your pardon," said the strawberry-eater, politely placing the offending article on his head and drawing his chair a little to one side; "I will make loud for the nearest to hear, and the cir- with his left; that number three obliged room for Monsieur."

The garcon was about to retire well satisfied, when the bully called after house.

that thing which annoys me away ?" "But, Monseiur le Comte, it is impossible !

"What is impossible?" "That I should take the gentleman's tempt going round the circle.

"I am not a foreigner, Monsieur."
"I am sorry for that." "So am L"

"May one, without indiscretion, in quire why?" "Certainly. Because, if I were a for "Meaning me?"

"Meaning precisely you." "Do you know who I am?" asked the Count, half turning his back upon him, poor creature."

"Monsieur," replied the strawberry eater, with perfect politeness in his tone, "I have the honor not to know you." "Death of my life! I am the Count de us to realize a state of society in which In its place was one with two gray eyes such a wild beast could be permitted to which flashed like fire, and a mouth that

> "The Comte de V-"Yes, Monsieur. And what have you to say against him ?" "I? O nothing."

"That may be well for you." "But there are those who say he is

"That is enough," said the bully, starting to his feet. "Monsieur will find to a challenge, and when it was repre- me in two hours at this address," fling- bully. ing him a card. "I shall not trouble myself to seek now of me."

"And that is?"

"That he is a coward."

would not believe you, and those who do not-my faith! what care I what would take him at the same disadvanthey think ?"

"And thou, thou art a Frenchman!" thrown so much disdain as he did into this farce end." the "thou."

The strawberry-eater made no reply, found himself the center of a circle that came up again, wondering what new vacant room in this hotel?" "Without doubt, Monsieur."

"A large one?" "But, certainly. They are all largeown apartments. "Then engage the largest for me day, and another, no matter what, for Monsieur le Comte." "Monsieur, I give my own orders whe

ecessary," said the Count loftily. "I thought to spare you the trouble

"and prepare my rooms." Then the strawberry-eater returned strawberries and reading his paper as his strawberries. The bully gnawed his though no wolf was in that pleasant lip. He could not make head or tail of this phlegmatic opponent. The circle grew a little wider, for a horrid idea got secome sufficiently well known whom abroad that the Count had not found he was about to honor with his insolence one who was likely to suit him, and that

The murmur that went round aroused

"Monsieur," he hissed, "has presumed

"I beg your pardon?"

"Which among men of honor-"But what can Monsieur le Comte of ineredulity.

"Will you fight yourself with me, will you not," roared the Count, goaded to fury. "If Monsieur le Comte will give him-for me," replied the stranger, rising, "I usual preliminaries. I only beg to ob- And the wiry little Anglo-Frank was serve that I am without arms; but if as good as his word. In less time than one to try and prevent what to all seem- him, and he threw open the window and ed imminent? Not a soul! The dreaded called for help, the strawberry-eater took duelist had his evil fit on, and every one him by the neck and breeches and flung breathed freely now that he knew the him out of it on the flower-bed below. victim was selected. Moreover, no one The strawberry-easer remained a supposed that it would end there. The Count and his friend (?) were ise of giving the Count his revenge. But a foreigner," said the bully, stretching decks being cleared for action, the his arms over the table and looking his stranger locked the door, placed the key his last duel. Some one produced a neighbor full in the face—a titter of con-

"I think you might have helped a lityour attention for five minutes?"

you, a Frenchman, but I was educated own Lyceds, I should, perhaps, have gained more book knowledge, but as it

"I cannot flatter myself that I do." "Ha! Then I must be more explicit. I learned then that one who takes adthe weak, or who, practiced in any art, compels one unpracticed in it to con-

Comte ?" "I came here Monsieur-" "Never mind for what you came, be content with what you will get. For exfor the mere vicious love of quarrelling. goads to madness a boy who has never is a murderer; and more—a cowardly murderer, and knavish."

"I think I catch your meaning; but if you have pistols here-" foamed the same habit of thought prevails, it would be considered that a man who had been guilty of such cowardice and knavery as "You may say what you please Mon- I have mentioned would be justly punsicur le Comte. Those who know me ished, if, some day, he should be paid in his own coin by meeting some one who tage as he placed that poor boy at."

"Our seconds shall fix your own weap-No one but a Frenchman could have one, Monsieur," said the Count: "let "Presently. Those gentlemen who opinions I now venture to express, not but turned his head and called, "Gar- having that craze for blood which disexpanded as he went on. This did not dilemma was prepared for him, and probably think that such a coward and night came on, but they must have sary to correct him with mud-never on Seven years have passed since then. knave as we have been considering tolled when Major Pitcairn's body was any account throw mud at him, because a humiliating castigation befitting his knavery and his cowardice."

"Ah! I see: I have a lawyer to deal with," sneered the Count.

I regret to say I am about to break one of British officers who were killed or impurities from his person, and possibly his eyes upward, when to his intense sur-

"You will fight me then?"

"Yes. At the school we have been speaking of, I learned, among other things, the use of my hands; and if I mistake not I am about to give you as ound a thrashing as any bully ever got." but one man fell whose death was life to ting a little pale. "Exactly. Just as you took advantage of your skill in the small sword with poor young B" "But it is degrading-brutal!"

"My dear Monsieur, just consider. You are four inches taller and some thirty or forty kilogrammes heavier than outside. If you were to hit me a good to make use of the word which among swinging blow, it would go hard with me. In the same way, if poor young else knew at the time. He was, as we you first. B-had got over your guard, it would have gone hard with you. But then I shall only black both of your eyes, and possibly know what is felt among men perhaps deprive you of a tooth or so, unof honor?" asked the other with a shrug happily in front; whereas you killed

'I will not accept this barbarous encounter." "You must; I have done talking. Would you like a little brandy before we begin? No! Place yourself on guard solf the trouble to follow to the apart then, if you please. When I am done ment which, no doubt; is now prepared with you, and you are fit to appear, then half ounce, the weight of the seven the two seated temselves under a palm you shall have your revenge-even with the small sword, if you please. At pres- to postoffice rule, to apply another stamp. "Good," said the other, kicking down ent, bully-coward-knave, take that, it takes to write it, the great braggart "O, don't trouble yourself on that was rendered unpresentable for many a core," said the stranger with a grim long day. That number one caused him smile. "If you are not afraid, follow to see fifty suns beaming in the firmament with his right eye; that number This he said in a voice sufficiently two produced a similar phenomenon cle parted right and left, like startled him to swallow a front tooth, and to obsheep as the two walked towards the serve the ceiling more attentively than he had hitherto done. And when one Was there no one to call "police," no or two other thats had completely cowed month at Bordeaux to fulfill his prom-thrown out of the hotel window, and ridicule-so awful to a Frenchman-rid tle, but never mind. Will you give me the country of him. The strawberry eater was alive when the battle of the "Perfectly."

"Thank you. I am, as I have told whom the above facts are known who never talks about them.—Temple Bar.

The Battle of Bunker Hill.

I will not try to tell over again the story of the battle, for it is in every is, I have learned some things we do not school history. It is enough now to teach, and one of them is not to take a know that at one o'clock the British mean advantage of any man, but to keep army landed in good order at Moulton's and facing the lookers-on, as much as to my own head with my own hands. Do Point, and immediately formed in three say, "Now observe how I will crush this you understand me Monsieur le Comte?" lines, while the barges returned to Boston for more troops, who arrived at three: that the British, some three thousand strong, advanced upon the vantage of mere brute strength against American works; that they were driven back with fearful slaughter; that they advanced again, with the flames of the barning town to veil their movements and were again repulsed; that they rallied again with reinforcements against the Americans, who were not only worm down with labor and fasting, but out of ammunition; and at about five o'clock. ample—to follow what I was observing after this bloody conflict of an hour and if a man is killed with a small sword a halt with raw volunteers, these picked soldiers of the British army took posses sion of the hill that had served them for fenced in his life and kills him, that man a retreat on the famous 19th of April, with more than a thousand dead and wounded as the price of their victory. among these 226 being among the killed. The Americans had 140 killed, 271 "I do not come to eat strawberries with in a force probably not exceeding fifteen only be resorted to under peculiarly agpistols in my pocket," replied the other, hundred men actually engaged. The gravating circumstances. If you have British, by the most truthful accounts, nothing but a rag doll stuffed with saw "fools sometimes made mistakes with berry-eater, calmly tearing the card in throughout. "Allow me to continue. had less than four thousand men engaged dust, while one of your more fortunate At that school of which I have spoken, ed on the field, according to Mr. Rich- little playmates has a costly china one "Then I shall say of Monsieur what and in the society of men who have ard Frothingham's excellent history of you should treat her with a show of him; but the blood thus shed quieted he, permitting himself to lie, said just grown out of it, and others where the the battle, but he apparently does not kindness nevertheless. And you ought include the sailors and gunners in the not to attempt to make a forcible swap British ships who were so active in the with her unless your conscience would fight, and who killed the first American justify you in it, and you know you are

> That was a sad evening for Boston and wounded in the battle-thirteen killed the skin, also, in spots. and seventy wounded, a proportion so large as to put this battle on a footing with the carnage of Quebec and of Minden. The losses on the American side were not so many nor so conspicuous: "You would take advantage of your his companions and his cause, and, with skill in the box?" said the Count get- all allowance for local and personal friendship and patriotic exaggeration, there is no doubt that when Dr. Joseph Warren died, New England liberty had its martyr, and America had a hero who I am. I have seldom seen so fine an a noble man, and did a great deal for death meant more than he or any body er to "sass" old people unless they "sass" > > shall see, a text out of the book of humanity and of God that history was then unrolling .- Harper's Magazine. A correspondent of one of the metronolitan journals states that he recently prepared a package for the mail, and on ception, a well known old maid from weighing it found that it required just Boston, whom we will call Miss Warren, seven postage stamps of the three cent was promenading in the conservators stamps the scale was turned for another young gentlemen. As the music stopped stamps making it necessary, according tree, and the following dialogue oc-In other words, says the correspondent "I was obliged to pay three cents postage on the seven stamps used in paying postage on the letter. Is it right to compel payment for the privilege of paying ?"

Jones gave a lawyer a bill to be collected to the amount of $30. Calling for it after awhile, he inquired if it had been collected. "Oh, yes," said the lawyer, "I have it all for you." "What charge for collecting?" "Oh," said the lawyer, laughing, "I'm not going to charge you -why I have known you ever since you was a baby, and your father before you; $20 will be about right," handing over $10. "Well," said Jones, as he meditated upon the transaction, "It's darned lucky he didn't know my grandfather, or shouldn't have got anything."

Cowden Clark tells a story of a gentle-

Glorious things of thee are spoken' Words bellt a hero's bride; fouth and wealth and fame and beauty, Gifts that none may dare deride! Not for thee the smoke of contest, Not the heart-break of the carnag On the battle fields of gore: All thy future lies before the Fair as earth when Eden smiled; Thou art Eve, whom yet no Satan Hath of Paradise beguiled. What the far-off groan and strife? Blessed art thou, oh happy woman, For the splendor of thy life!

Though thou art a soldier's bride; What dark grief, oh queenly beauty eaven grant thy roses never May'st thou have no "Friend" to

SHERIDAN'S BRIDE.

BY AGNES LEONARD HILL.

With a worse than serpent's dart. May no honeyed lips beguile thee, With the smiles that women wear, When they hide most trait'rous purpo In a speech that seemeth fair,
Oh thou art so young and trusting—
Stranger! Bride! I give thee tears,
Praying that good angels keep thee
Through life's ever changeful years.

I could wish for thee, fair stran All that wisdom gives beside; That thy life, like some glad river, Flowing onward to the sea, Shall at last in joys forever, Chicago, June 7, 1875.

Mark Twain's Advice to Little Girls.

Good little girls ought not to make mouths at their teachers for every triwounded, and 30 captured, or 441 in all, fling offence. This retaliation should able to do it.

You ought never to take your little all the people around it. The sun that brother's chewing gum away from him went down in splendor behind the ruins by force; it is better to "rope him in" of that burned town, after that day of with promise of the first two dollars and gatha of death. British and Americans on a grindstone. In the artless simplicwho had been in arms against each other ity natural to his time of life he will rewere one now in the pain of wounds, the gard it as a perfectly fair transaction. agony of bereavement, and the need of In all the ages of the world this emithe Divine Comforter. The chimes of nently plausible fiction has lured the

If your mother tells you to do a thing. then afterwards act quietly in the matbetter judgment. You should ever bear in mind that it is to your kind parents your nice bed, and your beautiful clothes, and for the privilege of staying keeping as good time as in former years. home from school when you let on you fought for her thenceforth with weapons are sick. Therefore you ought to respect that are not carnal, and with a valor their little prejudices and humor their that knows no weariness, and wants no little whims, and put up with foibles unfood or clothing or arms. Warren was til they get to crowding you too much. Good little girls always show marked have excited no small interest. The the patriot cause, but his life and his deference for the aged. You ought nev- heat expands the oil placed in small

The Drawing-out Dodge.

The Fifth Avenue young ladies ar telling this story : The other evening at a fashionable re denomination, but after putting on the with one of our well known New York

Boston Old Maid-Nobody loves me w dear Mr. Withington, nobody. Young Fellow-Yes, Miss Warren God loves you, and your mother loves Boston Old Maid-Mr. Withington. lets go in.

another fellow.-Eli Perkins.

GREEN PEAS.-Have the hands the dishes clean in shelling, so that the ness need not be washed before cooking. If the pods are very nice and sweet, they may be cooked in the water before the peas are put in; but usually this does not pay. Have the peas a little more than even full of water, and cook them twenty minutes after they begin to boil.

As the season advances, cook them lonman who lately in making a return of ger. Be sure to have them tender, but to a fellow with good sound horse sense. ushered into the spartment prepared for then again the bully met with more his income to the tax commissioner, do not cook them after they are tender.

An Attorney's Effective Advice.

If to serve a client faithfully by the adoption of every means to advance his cause is a moral obligation, then Attorney Stubbs, of Solano, California has got a credit mark upon the book of the Recording Angel. A very bad case of prisoner, a reprobate known as "Little Miller," was convicted of forgery, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of Stubbs in his behalf, and was brought before the judge for sentence. When saked if he had any thing to say, "Little Miller" did not remain silent. He had a good deal to say, and he said ite. He wept like a child, and spoke as one who had erred in a moment of impulse, for which he was to atone by years of contrition and well doing. Every one in court was affected, and the emotional sensation extended even to the Judge on the bench. Mr. Stubbs spoke of the physical weakness of his client, and the prospect that his life would be ruined by a long term of imprisonment. Then the Judge sentenced Miller for only one year. After it was all over, Miller was questioned by a fellow-prisoner as to the cause of his extraordinary grief, and the reply was: "Stubbs told me to cry like a son of a gun, and the Judge would be light on me, and I did it." Mr. Stubba is ev-idently a great man.

FELT AGGRIEVED. - Several days ago detective arrested a man about fifty years old who was hanging around one of the depots, believing him to be the man wanted by Cleveland parties for burglary. After keeping the man locked up for four days he was set at liberty. When told that he could depart, he said to the detective:

"I don't think this is right."

"Mistakes will happen," was the reply.
"Yes, I know, but you kept me locked p four days, and I feel aggrieved about it. I think you can afford to treat to the beer !"

A glass of beer settled the case to his eatisfaction .- Detroit Free Press.

About seven years ago a party of hunters from Alleghaney City, Pa., went to Erie to hunt ducks on Presque Isle peninsula. One of the party, Mr. Chas. L. summer leveliness, shone upon a Gol- a half you find floating down the river and chain among the numerous little Hutchinson, lost a valuable gold watch ponds that intersect the peninsula. Long and diligent search was made, and no trace of the watch being found, the search was given up as a hopeless one. tinguishes some—who have not had a Christ Church did not probably ring out obture infant to financial ruin and dis-Mr. Hutchinson went back to Alleghany similar enlightened education—would after the din of battle had ceased and aster. If at any time you find it neces-watch being a gift from a deceased friend. brought there for the burial service and it will soil his clothes. It is better to felt a strong inclination to renew the interred under the church. He was a scald him a little for then you attain search, and alone he again went over brave and kindly man, who has appar- desirable results; you secure his imme- the ground formerly traveresed by him. rently been misunderstood, and identi- diate attention to the lessons you are infied with acts of atrocity which he ab- culcating, and at the same time your hot empty his boots of the sand that had "Yes. I have studied a little law, but horred. His name heads the large list water will have a tendency to remove just got into them, he chanced to cast prise and joy he saw the watch and chain hanging to the limbs of a small sapling, it is wrong to reply that you won't. It just as they had hung there seven years is better and more becoming to intimate before, when the young twigs-now that you will do as she bids you, and grown quite large-had jerked them from his pocket! The wood of the sapter, according to the dictates of your ling had grown over and about the chain, holding it firm. Mr. Hutchinson cut off the branch within which the that you are indebted for your food and chain was embedded. The watch has been cleaned and repaired, and is now

> The experiment made in London, in which either oil or glycerine is made to same means—the application of heat cylinders, and from it, it is claimed, a pressure of ten thousand pounds per square inch may be obtained without the danger of steam explosions, which latter prevent the use of a pressure of more than two hundred pounds to the square inch generally. In this instance, it is asserted, an explosion would only crack the cylender containing the oil. The application of this process appears, from the account published, to have been successfully made to the printing press and to machines for riveting and punching, and it is alleged that the variety of uses of which it is susceptible will be found yery great.

An Irish lecturer thus endeavored to prove that the late John Staurt Mill was not a "human" man: "An unnatural and laborious child, he took no delight in the proper amusements of youth, spending the hours that ought to have And five minutes afterward Miss War-ren was trying the drawing-out dodge on of the Greek grammar and Euclid; growing up without the hope of relaxation in this world or of enjoyment bereafter; working out the knowledge of many sciences and yet ignorant of men, and ending what love his shrivelly heart might have had for women on the love of abstract ideas."

> have quoted the following sen "Forty girls will run after a suob with a

When we say that forty men will run neovering again. "Be so good as to the latter, who, as soon as the garoon than his match. The strawberry-eater wrote on the paper: "For the first If done too soon, let them stand hot after a flirt who can sing a little and carry my hat to the lady at the counter, had left took off his coat and waistcoat, had Angelo for a master as well as Owen three years my income has been some without cooking. Serve warm, full of thump on a plane, to where one will shy and ask her, on my behalf, to do me the and proceeded to move the furniture so Swift, and after a few passes the Count, what under £150; in the future it will juice, and if you wish for the full benefit up to a plain, hard sense girl who is not favor to accept charge of it for the as to leave the room free from what was who was too eager to kill his man, felt be more precarious, as the man is dead of the sweet pea flavor, serve without ashamed to help her mother get dinner, to follow—the Count standing with fold—an unpleasant sensation in his right of whom I horrowed the money."